

HMC's nursery to re-open in Aug.

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock Medical Center's obstetric department will re-open in August with the addition of Dr. Dimitri Yanez, board certified OB-GYN, to the hospital's staff, administrator Don Henderson said Wednesday.

Dr. Yanez, 37, is a 1987 graduate of Louisiana State University's New Orleans Medical School with a specialty in gynecology.

Henderson reported the recruitment of Dr. Yanez was given final approval by HMC's board of trustees at a Tuesday night meeting.

Since leaving LSU, Dr. Yanez has been practicing at the Inter Mountain Health Clinic, Whitesburg, Kentucky.

An elated Henderson said, "It was through the cooperation of the HMC medical staff and board of trustees and Hancock County Board of Supervisors, that enabled us to bring Dr. Yanez to this hospital."

"An OB-GYN in the Bay-Waveland area will make it a lot easier and more convenient for mothers-to-be, who have to drive 25 miles or so without one in the county," Henderson added.

Henderson continued, "Our hospital's mission is to provide a full range of high quality medical services, and Dr. Yanez will help us reach this goal."

The new OB-GYN's office will be located in Bay St. Louis and will open in August when his contract expires in Kentucky.

The labor and delivery department of Hancock Medical Center closed in December, 1991, with the retirement of Dr.

Compretta: Tax plan to be reconsidered today

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

State Rep. J.P. Compretta reported the defeated Senate Bill 3120 tax plan will be reconsidered today.

The plan, now containing several additional amendments, was supported by Compretta for its broad-based attempt at education assistance and potential for reduction of local taxation.

Compretta explained, increasing sales taxes from six cents to seven cents would create an additional $169 million in revenues for the state. Eighty percent of this money would go directly into education. The other 20 percent would go to other departments, such as rehabilitation, mental health, corrections and state board of health.

He continued, these monies can be used by school districts for bus purchases, building funds, transportation expenses and book purchases, reducing the need for bond issues.

"School districts should have the necessary income so as to not raise taxes," Compretta stated. "Actually they should be able to reduce their current debts and in effect reduce the burden on the taxpayer."

Under the proposed bill Hancock County School District is expected to receive $272,500 and Bay-Waveland School District, $200,733 from the one-percent increase.

Smith claims slot on college board

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Bay St. Louis business owner Dr. Michael R. Smith was appointed to the state board of Institutions of Higher Learning Tuesday by Gov. Kirk Fordice.

Smith, 53, an aeronautical engineer, will serve 12 years on the board which oversees appropriations and programs of Mississippi's eight universities.

Others appointed were Ricki Rayner Garrett, 40, a Clinton homemaker and Mississippi University for Women alumni leader; Dr. Howard Clark, 65, a Morton physician; and Thelma Brown Rush, 61, a Vicksburg Republican election commissioner.

Some 300 persons had expressed interest in the board positions, according to Smith.

"I am elated to have an opportunity to serve the state and the governor," he said. "I realize these are difficult times and it will be a difficult job."

Among his priorities are:

—Reviewing academic programs and prioritizing those which benefit the state's economy;

—Cultivating an atmosphere where research conducted at the universities can be applied to businesses located here;

—De-emphasizing programs which do not contribute to the economy;

—Developing a more unified approach to educating the blue collar worker, by strengthening vocational programs in the state's community colleges and high schools.

"I have read that only 12% of Mississippi's high school graduates complete four years of college; and more than 30% never graduate from high school. We need to focus on providing better training for these people," he said.

Deputies search for evidence of a murder

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Monday and Tuesday, Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies searched in vain for the body of a reported murder victim near the Hancock County Welcome Center.

According to Sheriff Ronald Peterson, John David Little, 26, presently incarcerated in Missouri, has confessed to murdering four people.

One of the four Little claims to have killed is a Louis W.

Spenser of Sarasota, Fla.

Little told law enforcement officers that he met Spenser on the night of March 26 at the Hancock County Welcome Center rest area.

Little described enticing Spenser into a wooded area near the center with a promise of sharing a marijuana cigarette and citing no reason, claimed he stabbed Spenser to death.

Little also described to Hancock County officials how he shoved the body into a pond, concealing it under some low hanging branches.

Peterson added Little gave a similar description of another murder to Florida authorities. "There he told them, the body was eaten by an alligator."

"As of Tuesday evening, the Florida deputies are planning to trap the alligator and have an autopsy performed."

Leetown resident finds dead newborn in garbage dumpster

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

A dead infant discovered Friday by Leetown resident Hayward Fleming will be buried Saturday in the graveyard of Lee's Chapel #2 in Leetown.

According to authorities, the white female infant was left in a dumpster outside of Mr. Gatti's Pizza in the Pine Tree Plaza Shopping Center on Mississippi 43 about 4 or 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 15.

Picayune Police Chief Freddy Drennan reported the autopsy indicated the infant was probably born last Wednesday morning. She was approximately three weeks premature, and lived for a few minutes before she was smothered.

Drennan said they are working with the Jefferson Parish Sheriff's Department, and at this time have no further information.

The baby was reported found with the umbilical cord still attached, and wrapped in a maroon towel. Placed inside of the black plastic bag with her were pages from the Times-Picayune's West Bank edition, a candy wrapper purchased at K&B Drugs in Gretna, La., and a wrapper from a lip gloss purchased at Eckerd Drugs in Marrero, La.

Drennan said the bag also contained a man's multi-colored T-shirt.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson reported Fleming picked up the bag from the dumpster on Wednesday, assuming it contained scrap food he intended for his hogs.

Peterson said the Leetown resident unknowingly transported the black plastic trash bag to his home and placed the bag along with others in his yard. At 3:30 p.m. Friday the Hancock Sheriff's Department received a call from Fleming after he opened the bag and discovered its contents.

Meanwhile, members of the Leetown Community, through Lee's Chapel #2, has requested the infant's body from the authorities.

A coffin has been offered at cost by the the Picayune Funeral Home and the Picayune Radio Station has been soliciting donations for a headstone for the baby.

Fleming's daughter, Diane Brignac, reported her father decided to give the baby a name, so that she will be someone special and not just, "Baby Jane."

Jushaway receives life sentence

The murder trial of Waveland resident Joe L. Jushaway ended Monday in Natchez with a sentence of life in prison.

The trial, which had been moved from Hancock County because of pre-trial publicity, ended after the jury spent more than two hours in deliberation without deciding a sentence. Judge James Thomas delivered the sentence.

Jushaway could have been sentenced to death by lethal injection.

Jushaway, 22, was indicted in 1990 on two counts of capital murder in the December 1989 stabbing deaths of Novella "Dobbie" Gillum, 66, and her five-year-old granddaughter, Latrice Renee Gillum. He was convicted Saturday of stabbing

Novella Gillum to death with a butcher knife.

The jury deliberated 3½ hours Saturday before returning a guilty verdict in the trial, which began April 13 with testimony from a gas company employee and an insurance agent.

Defense attorney Albert Necaie said an immediate appeal will be made to the Mis-issippi Supreme Court, but added that it will probably be at least two years before the appeal will be heard.

Jushaway will be eligible for parole in about seven years. He also faces charges of aggravated assault and burglary, and could face trial on the capital murder charge that he killed Latrice Gillum.

Concert in Park has Cajun theme

The Bay Business Association will present its first 1992 free Concert In The Park at 6 p.m. Saturday, April 25.

Cajun Night is the theme, and the Garland Moran Band will provide good foot-stompin' music.

Local restaurants will be selling Cajun specialties at moderate prices. Guests are invited to bring chairs and table settings to enjoy "dinner-on-the-ground" under the oaks at City Park.

County school board reviews spending

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois supplied board with requested information on district spending at Monday's meeting.

Board members plan to review the financial data during the next scheduled meeting May 4.

Copies of current policy governing the use of substitute teachers was also requested.

Bourgeois suggested the board consider application for EFC (Educational Finance Committee) monies which can be used for structural repairs.

She stated the EFC application must be accompanied by architectural plans for proposed repairs.

Bourgeois added since the district's proposed EFC projects are considered low cost ($30,000 to $40,000) the board may wish to consider hiring a local firm for better on-site supervision.

The board approved the 1992-93 salary scale for certified employees, noting no changes from the previous year.

In other business the board approved:

—two claims for on-the-job

accidents for Darnell Cuevas, teacher, and Jeannie Spiers, cafeteria worker, both employed at Hancock North Central Elementary;

—employment of Dennis Peterson as track coach, Jean Aegier as substitute teacher and Suzanne Lossett as child care aide, all at Hancock Junior/Senior High for the 1992-93 year;

—the resignations of Katie Reed as special education teacher, effective June 2, 1992, and Charles Duffie as secondary teacher, effective May 29, 1992;

—advertisement for food purchase bids for the first period of the 1992-93 year;

—a food advancement of $600 for SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) attending a seminar; and —the employment of school food part-time employees for an additional two hours per day when a regular employee is absent and no substitute is available;

—16th-section lease agreements with two hunting and fishing clubs as bid;

—and, the low quote purchase of basketball uniforms.

Smith

Smith has bachelor's and doctorate degrees in engineering from Mississippi State University. He is president of Smith Aircraft Corporation, which is involved in the development and FAA certification of a light general aviation aircraft. He developed a foam-core, composite-sandwich structural process, which he claims to be superior to honeycomb core process in certain applications.

The company will relocate to Starkville in the near future, and Smith will commute via plane to his permanent residence here. His wife, Carrie, is a teacher at Bay High School. They have two children, Lisa Michele and Michael Jr.

Smith served on the staff of

where he conducted basic and applied research. He was a flight test pilot/engineer for evaluation of numerous general aviation aircraft and was a consultant in the development of aircraft.

He is the author of 40 technical papers and reports and currently serves on the AIAA and NASA advisory committees for general aviation.

Smith served as chairman of the Hancock County Republican Party for five years, and was Gov. Fordice's campaign chairman in the county.

The new board members will begin their 12-year term May 8. The board meets monthly.

Tax plan

"I voted in support of the sales tax increase," Compretta said. "I see it as a means for immediate relief to local taxpayers through reduced property taxes and because it is a funding source which can address education needs. It is a broad-based tax by which all people share in, even those passing through the area."

A recent amendment to the bill is a proposal which requires sales taxes on new automobile purchases be raised to six-percent from the current three-percent.

Compretta said, he was supportive of this amendment because the increased revenues are earmarked to be returned to the counties for use in reduction of current car tag fees.

Hancock County School District Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois stated she is definitely in favor of S.B. 3120 and as she understands the plan it should address public school needs and reduce ad valorem taxes.

She added, she too feels a sales tax increase would be more evenly shared by the populace and visitors alike.

Bourgeois added, "I feel that the bill is not being supported by those legislators from the northern part of the state where most of their children attend private schools."

"This is a most crucial time, and I urge people to contact their legislators."

Although SB 3120 still has a long way to go, should SB 3120 make it to the Governor's desk, Fordice has already let it be known that he will veto the bill.

Compretta added that in the years he has been in Jackson, "I have learned not to guess on the chances of anything passing or not passing. Anything can happen."

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The Beach Front Festival this year will be sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and is scheduled for Saturday, May 16.

This will be the 13th annual festival and, as you note, it will be returning to a Saturday from 11 a.m. till 7 p.m.

Cindy Vernon, chamber executive director, reports there are still spaces available for local food vendors and craft vendors.

A new wrinkle for this festival is that all food vendors must have an established operation in Hancock County, according to Basil Kennedy, chamber president.

This is to enable our food distributors an opportunity to show their cooking skills.

A big Children's Art Festival will be held the same day, too, and many children's activities are planned.

There will be no fee for the Children's Art Festival. It is a program for our youngsters to enjoy themselves, according to Barbara Brodtmann, children's art festival chairman.

Plenty of activities, along with entertainment, will be offered throughout the day for youngsters.

Communities, organizations and agencies will also have an opportunity to showcase themselves this year, and this is a new entry field for the local festival. Booths are available at no charge to these interested parties.

Gumbo, gumbo... will be a featured item this year. L.J. Breaux and Larry Koenenn, among others, will be the chefs.

Many of you will remember the good gumbo that was served years ago at Necaise Crossing. I am told the same recipe will be used. Fred deBen is chairman of this event.

Local artists will be the featured entertainers, and half a dozen are already to perform beginning at 12:30 p.m., Bill Johnson, Beach Front chairman reports.

Those include Pat Murphy, Keith Hoda, Bo & Dee, Mike & Kathy Keel and Night Shift.

Special appearances by Smokey the Bear and McGruff the Crime Dog will be made.

Admission for the festival will be adults $2 to enter the festival area. Children aged 12 and under will be admitted free.

Sounds like the chamber has a big day planned. For further information call the chamber at 467-9048.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Time to win the war

The time has come to confront and whip the rampant run of crime in this country. And, the number one crime we need to defeat is drugs.

I recently expressed my concerns about drugs to former Florida Governor Bob Martinez, who now is director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy. He said that the United States is facing two wars when dealing with drugs; a war against casual drug use, which he said is being won; and a war against hard core drug use which is out of control and must be addressed.

He added that our ongoing national campaigns are working in the schools and among casual users, but that we must beef up the gut of the Drug War—the targeting and dismantling of drug trafficking organizations.

We have all heard the problem of drugs described as a "war on drugs," but I really feel that we have never officially declared war. Governor Martinez agreed that like the Cold War with the old Soviet Union, our battle against drugs is long term. It's also international in scope, and it's waged against criminals in other countries who can hide behind the curtain of their own borders.

I say we launch an offensive against these drug suppliers from other countries who continue to molest our borders with the flow and sale of illegal drugs. And, I think we should use all our resources including, in particular, the military to do so.

There have been cuts in defense in view of the Cold War's end. But, we shouldn't hastily cut, as many in Congress have suggested, and transfer the savings to domestic programs. We still have a foe more vile and venomous than Iraq to conquer in drugs.

At my request, the Senate Armed Services Committee recently held the first in a series of hearings to discuss the military's involvement in the Drug War. The initial hearing proved to be very beneficial in providing strategies and laying some early groundwork.

We resolved that the military can be extremely helpful to local, state and federal drug enforcement officials by helping monitor and locate incoming drug shipments. The military is uniquely capable with equipment and trained personnel to help monitor the shipping, air and land-border lanes used by the drug lords.

The two advantages offered by the military is that it has the highly technical devices needed to monitor drug trafficking lanes, and the military is already in place and active which will control start-up and excessive costs.

It's time to get serious about fighting illicit drugs which are ravaging our youth, destroying our families and sapping our nation's energy. And, I believe the military can help us to win this battle which is being fought on our very own shores.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

House affirms its commitment to senior citizens

The House of Representatives has affirmed its commitment to the nation's senior citizens by approving legislation to reauthorize the Older Americans Act. The bill, which passed the House 340-68 and is now on its way to the Senate, reauthorizes Older Americans Act Programs and services for the elderly through Fiscal Year 1995.

These programs include supportive services, such as in-home services and legal services; congregate and home-delivered meals ("meals-on-wheels"); and the community service employment program, which provides part-time jobs for unemployed low-income individuals 55 years of age or older.

In addition, the measure includes a provision which improves Social Security benefits for working senior citizens by nearly doubling the retirement earnings test for individuals aged 65 to 69. The bill would let a person aged 65 to 69 earn up to $20,000 without having his or her benefits reduced. The current cap is $10,200, after which every $3 earned results in a $1 benefit decrease.

I feel we owe this provision to those senior citizens who have chosen to continue working after reaching retirement age. To penalize them for earning additional income, beyond their first or second retirement, is unreasonable.

The bill also improves benefits for elderly widows, who are among the neediest beneficiaries. The bill would eliminate annual benefit reductions based on the number of months they received benefits prior to age 65. The bill would eliminate this reduction for widows who are age 80 or older, thus restoring full benefits to these individuals.

The measure also increases the amount of benefits available to a widow or widower over age 80 whose deceased spouse received a reduced retirement benefit because he or she retired before age 65.

Other provisions will provide supportive activities for caregivers, provide meals in elementary and secondary schools for older individuals who will be linked to intergenerational programs and authorize grants to prevent foreclosure and eviction of the elderly.

In addition, the measure provides grants to help prepare students for careers in the field of aging and for multigenerational activities involving older individuals.

I realize these provisions are important to many of South Mississippi's older individuals. Therefore, I will continue to follow the progress of this measure closely as it makes its way through the legislative process. I feel these assistance programs fill a void in our nation's elderly health care system and this is a small price to pay to enhance the lives of those who have given so much to their country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Elected officials have responsibility to constituents

Dear Editor:

Today I was approached by one of your reporters as to my opinion on the subject of whether we should have a set salary for one of our political officers or leave it the way it is.

I am sure this will be the subject of 'Street Talk' in your paper.

My response to this was on the spur of the moment; I feel it should be after some consideration as per the following:

Whenever we elect anyone to public office, no matter if we have voted for them or not, it is then our duty to sustain them. For after the election, the debate is over.

We should elect our officials on the merit of their ability.

qualifications and integrity.

It is my belief, that when we are in the service of our fellow man, we are also in the service of our God. We will have to account for our stewardship. We are there to represent our constituents.

Every elected official should always try to save anywhere he sees an opportunity. It is for this purpose he was elected.

I also feel, the only solution to our economic condition is to stabilize our spending. That includes set salaries in all areas, not an increase each year. Then, and only then, can we ever hope to stabilize taxes.

Sincerely,
Dudley Garriga

Humane Society needs home for flea market

To the Editor:

When the Humane Society was founded in 1973 by Mrs. Clifford (Lolly) Backlund of Waveland, the animal situation in Hancock County was horrendous. Dogs roamed the streets in starved-out conditions, sick and dying. Many auto accidents were caused trying to avoid hitting these animals; but many were hit by cars and lay dead at the sides of the roads.

Unwanted animals that were picked up by the dog wardens were tied to trees behind fire stations and shot; some died quickly, others slowly. Many times they were just tied and abandoned to die on their own.

Today, because of the intense involvement of the volunteer workers of the Humane Society, it is a rare instance, indeed, that a dog is seen running along the highways.

We participated physically and financially in the building and running of the shelter that exists in Waveland. Today as in yesteryear, much of our income goes to make life better for the shelter animals.

We receive no funds from United Way nor any other organization. The bulk of our money is made in our flea market. We sell merchandise that is given to us by the public. Much of that merchandise our volunteers pick up. All segments of the population buy from our flea market. However, the needy people of our county for many years have depended on us to clothe their families. The very funds that they give us for flea market items is given back to the needy, in emergency animal food, spay-neuter assistance, emergency medical aid.

We are, just a little bit, like Robin Hood and his Merry Men.

For several years we have given rabies shots to the needy animals of Hancock County. Many people who have been bitten by dogs in the past few years have found out they did not have to worry, because the Humane Society had vaccinated the otherwise deprived dog.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Mississippi proud

There are a great many things here in Mississippi that we rarely think about that demonstrate just how well we can compete, or have been competing, with the nation and the world. Those things range from the arts, to business, to technology.

At the 43rd annual membership meeting, the Mississippi Economic Council will take a long, proud look at the role of the state in America's space program.

As one of only two states in the country with two or more NASA facilities, Mississippi has made a name for itself as a center of technology for the space program.

More than 30 years ago, Hancock County was chosen as the site of the new test facility for NASA's Saturn V rockets.

Today, that facility is known as the Stennis Space Center, and it continues to serve as a major test facility for space shuttle engines.

And, perhaps most important, Stennis Space Center is an economic development tool. The economic impact of the center in 1990 alone was over $400 million.

Now the tradition continues at Yellow Creek with a new generation of space shuttle engines, and a new generation of pride for Mississippi. When the Yellow Creek facility is up and running, it will serve as the driving force in America's exploration of space in the 21st century.

The state of Mississippi is helping to lift America to the stars. That's something all Mississippians can be proud of.

STREET TALK

Do you feel our county circuit clerk and chancery clerk should be on set salaries?

"I think it should be a set salary. A person should know how much they are to make a year and not have to guess about it."

Leonard Walker Waveland

"If the clerks are satisfied with the present system, then leave it as it is."

Annie Laurie Flynt Bay St. Louis

"Of course I think they should be on set salaries. All our public officials should have salaries not based on fee collections or anything like that. These are public offices and their salaries should be set."

Roger James Catahoula

"Most everyone else is on set salaries, I feel we need to stabilize all our salaries now. That's the way it is in most places."

Dudley Garriga Waveland

"They ought to be on set salary. That way the clerks know what they are doing, what they are getting."

Warren Gilbert Bay St. Louis

"Yes. All elected officials should be, even for their own benefit."

Stanley Peterson Waveland

"I feel like it probably ought to be set salaries. I think it would be fairer to them and the people. It's the same job every year, they should be paid the same every year."

Duane O'Neal Shoreline Park

"Set salaries. Because I think it's only fair with respect to all of the other government officials."

Noel Dressel Waveland

"Yes, set salary. As an elected official they should be paid a set salary which is in line with their job functions."

Managers for a day

Winn-Dixie offers teens chance to take care of business

When's the last time you heard of a $10 billion business letting young people between the ages of 15 and 20 take over the company?

Well, Winn-Dixie will let 10,000 young leaders company-wide be "manager for a day" Saturday, April 25, during the grocery retailer's third annual Youth Management Day.

Youth managers are chosen based on their leadership potential, dependability and enthusiasm for their work. They will don their manager's vests and take over as location managers and co-managers in each store and as department managers in virtually every store department including produce, market, seafood, dairy, frozen food, deli/bakery, customer service, etc.

Their responsibilities will include inventory control, customer relations, creating sales displays and even providing customers with youth manager low prices on selected items throughout the store. "Real" managers will be close by but will take a strictly observational role as much as possible.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Are you reaching the end of that ultra-special-delicious baked-ham star of the Easter brunch or dinner table yet? I hope that you haven't (or, if you cooked something else for the feast, that you can get your greedy hands on some ham) so that you can enjoy my favorite after-the-first-appearance baked ham specially tasty dishes.

And, incidentally, if you want some tips on baking a ham to succulent perfection, you can't do better than to ask Sarah Benvenuti. (I all but made a pig of myself over that ham at their table on Easter Sunday!)

Of course, you may use the leftovers from a tasty baked ham in many ways, such as in sandwiches, omelettes, ham and eggs and so forth; but, why not give the ham one more presentation as an entree, so that its exit is as elegant as its entrance?

Just as baked ham and biscuits have starred at Southern dinner tables for a long, long time, so creamed ham (or chicken) dishes have been standbys of many an elegant or simple supper, whether served from a silver chafing dish or dished up from a pot on the stove—delicious!

And, when you spoon it over split small biscuits or corn muffins! Heavenly!

So, I think that you'll enjoy:
CREAMED HAM AND OLIVES

3 cups diced, cooked ham
3 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1/2 lb. button mushrooms
2 Tbsp. minced green onions
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1/4 cup dry sherry
2 cups cream (or half and half)

1/4 tsp. salt, optional
2 Tbsp. melted butter or margarine

Leftover ham makes great post-Easter meal

3 Tbsp. flour
1/2 cup small stuffed olives, halved

Heat 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a large skillet over medium heat, and add the mushrooms and green onions. Sprinkle with lemon juice, cover and cook for 2 or 3 minutes. Add the sherry, along with the cream or half-and-half and salt, and bring to boiling.

Blend 2 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine with the flour until quite smooth, and stir into the cream-mushroom mixture very slowly and gradually. Cook until the sauce thickens and is smooth, then add the ham and the olives, and continue cooking over low heat just until the ham is heated through, correcting the seasoning to taste. (4 to 6 servings)

And a dash of hot pepper sauce for me!

I like to serve this over split biscuits or muffins, as I said. And, this dish is a tasty afternoon tea or morning coffee tidbit, over split, small biscuits or corn muffins and an excellent choice for a bridal tea or coffee party, or a graduation party!

Also new is an economical three-day ticket priced at $12. Children's ticket prices are lower this year, at $2 advance and $3 after 6 p.m., Friday, May 15.

Music styles at the festival veer wildly from reggae, rock, zydeco, jazz, urban contemporary, classical, gospel and folk to country. Saturday's headliner is Jerry Lee Lewis, and The Four Tops get top billing on Sunday.

A special pre-event gala concert on Thursday evening, May 14, stars James Brown, the "Godfather of Soul." Tickets for the Brown concert will be available at the Jackson Municipal Auditorium Box Office April 20; prices range from $15 to $50.

Trustmark Family Village, a smash hit last year, comes back to Smith Park with performances by Sesame Street's Linda Bove, a deaf actress who plays sign language games with children.

Norman Foote, an actor, puppeteer and songwriter, will entertain the little ones with his wacky antics, and Temujin, an African-American storyteller who dresses in African garb, weaves fantastic tales for children and their parents. Numerous arts activities and strolling performers will add their magic as well.

The visual and performing arts have a stronger presence at the festival than ever. The Mississippi Museum of Art will curate two shows for the Visual Arts Gallery. One is the Mississippi Artists' Collaborative, in which more than 40 artists were afforded a 2 ft. by 2 ft. space and the freedom to express themselves in any artistic style and medium desired. The works were then assembled into one, in effect like a patchwork quilt.

Also in the Visual Arts Gallery will be the Mississippi Artists Showcase Invitational, which showcases select works by nine top Mississippi artists: Jason Bouldin, Fletcher Cox, Susan Ford, Jean Francis, Eyd Kazery, Dick Kelso, Lewis Lasister, John McDonald and Son Thomas.

Numerous local arts groups will participate in the festival, including Ballet Mississippi, Black Arts Music Society, Community Children's Theatre, Craftsmen's Guild of Mississippi, Jackson Public Schools' Academic and Performing Arts Complex (APAC), Mississippi Museum of Art, Mississippi Puppetry Guild, New Stage Theatre, Repertory Theatre of Mississippi and the Smith Robertson Museum and Cultural Center.

Tickets are on sale at the Jackson Municipal Auditorium Box Office and most Be-Bop outlets. Advance ticket prices, good through 6 p.m. Friday, May 15 are $12 for the three-day ticket, $6 for an adult single-day ticket, and $2 for children ages 6 to 12. After 6 p.m. that Friday, tickets are $12 for a three-day pass, $8 for adult single-day passes and $3 for children ages 6 to 12. Children younger than 6 are admitted free.

Smith to chair Diamondhead 'Wheels For Life' fund-raiser

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced Henry Smith will coordinate the Diamondhead "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon May 9.

Founded by Danny Thomas in 1962, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is the largest childhood cancer research-treatment-education center in America. Although located in Memphis, Tenn., the hospital has a local impact because area doctors and hospitals can use treatments and procedures developed at St. Jude.

St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, interracial and provides medical care for over 3,600 active patients. Currently, more than $215,000 is needed each day to keep the doors open. These funds come primarily from public contributions.

This year's Bike-A-Thon is dedicated to Brooke Simon. Six-year-old Brooke, from Delcambre, La., developed Wilms Tumor in November, 1988. Following the removal of her left kidney she has undergone radiation and chemotherapy. Though her prognosis is good, her fight still continues.

Bay junior high boys team ends winning track season

BY TRACI BONNEY
The Bay junior high boys track squad ended its season having won four of its five meets, according to coach Rocky Gaudin.

The junior high squad's only loss was in the first meet of the year, the D'Iberville Invitational, where the BHS runners lost to St. Martin by only two points. The meet that ended the season was at St. Stanislaus April 13. Gaudin said three of the 9th grade runners will advance to the high school squad for the rest of the season.

The high school team will run in a District 8 3A meet Friday that will determine which runners qualify for the South State 3A meet in Jackson May 2. Gaudin said all runners who finish first or second will go to Jackson.

At the team's meet in Picayune April 9, the BHS squad finished second out of seven competing teams. In a meet Tuesday in Moss Point, the Tigers finished fourth out of eight. In both meets, Pass Christian was the only other competitor that was not 4A or above, Gaudin said.

"That fourth place finish in Moss Point is deceptive. Except for Pass Christian, all the other competitors were big schools. We finished behind Gulfport, Moss Point and Ocean Springs. That means we finished ahead of Pascagoula, Biloxi, Pass Christian and Harrison Central.

"So we're pleased with our finish."

Two standouts at Tuesday's meet were Kevin Gillum, who won the 110M high hurdles, and Travis Collins who placed second in the 3200M run.

Gaudin said, "Right now, we're just getting ready for Friday's meet. If we win there — and we expect to win that meet — we'll advance to Jackson. We stand a good chance of winning the 3A championship for the second year in a row."

Tigers split baseball wins

The Bay High Tigers edged the Hancock Hawks Friday in baseball action, but fell to Vancleave Tuesday.

Against the Hawks, the Tigers batted in a final score of 7-5. Tiger third baseman Jimmy Strong led with three RBI, a double and a triple for his three at-bats.

Other stats include: center fielder Chris Barlow, three at-bats, one hit; first baseman Jeff Hopgood, four at-bats, two hits; second baseman/pitcher Jamie Kingston, three at-bats, one hit (Kingston was also the winning pitcher); left fielder Brennan Compretta, four at-bats; pitcher/shortstop Marc Dupui, three at-bats, one run; shortstop/second baseman Wali Shabazz, three at-bats, one hit, one run; right fielder Raleigh Murphy, two at-bats; right fielder Steven Sharp, one at-bat, one hit, one run.

For the Hawks, first baseman Deon Cuevas and second baseman James Kive each had three at-bats, one hit and one run. Other stats include: shortstop Jeremy Bennett, two at-bats, two runs; pitcher Kelvin Lader, two at-bats, one hit; catcher Scotty Davis, four at-bats; center fielder Lance Wedgeworth, four at-bats, one run; right fielder Bradley McKay, three at-bats, one hit; third baseman Kelly Seale,

BHS vs. Vancleave
Tuesday, the Tigers lost to Vancleave 15-3. The Tigers' three runs all came on home runs, a solo from third baseman Jimmy Strong and a two-run homer by pitcher/left fielder Kris Barlow.

Other Tiger stats include: catcher Gerritt Carver, two at-bats, one hit; pinch runner Steven Scharp, one run; Strong, three at-bats, two hits, one run; Barlow, three at-bats, three hits, one run; first baseman Jeff Hopgood, three at-bats; second baseman/pitcher/shortstop Jamie Kingston, three at-bats; left fielder/second baseman Brennan Compretta, two at-bats; center fielder Wali Shabazz, two at-bats, one hit; shortstop/pitcher Marc Dupui, two at-bats; right fielder Raleigh Murphy, two at-bats, one hit.

Indoor golf tournament benefits Cancer Society

The second annual Indoor Golf Tournament to benefit the American Cancer Society will be Friday, May 1 at the Days Inn at Diamondhead.

Eighteen holes of challenging golf, with a par 48, await the seasoned and novice golfer, according to chairman Henry Kibler.

"While not easy (only four golfers equalled or broke par last year), the course is designed to be fun. Even the first time players last year expressed surprise at what a great time they had," he said. "Several novices walked off with team trophies; so, get your favorite putter or come without one. We'll see that you have a good one," said Kibler.

Awards will be given for low individual score, low team score, hole-in-one and "Best Dressed Golfer."

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1992-1B

A hands-on experience

North Bay students' project depicts drug-free commitment

Special to the Echo

First graders at North Bay Elementary were caught red-handed during a recent drug awareness project.

The project consisted of a 16-foot wall of colored handprints and children's names signifying students' commitment to lead drug-free lives.

The handprint masterpiece was the focal point at North Bay's "Be Smart" Fair in April and will find a permanent home in the school cafeteria as a reminder of the children's pledge to remain drug free.

The "Be Smart" Fair, coordinated by Bay-Waveland school district's drug education facilitator, Melissa Johnson, was held to promote drug awareness among students and member of the community.

An open house at the school provided children with an opportunity to share their anti-drug related projects with parents and community members. Walkways and doors were decorated with anti-drug messages and symbols, and the student-body enjoyed a picnic lunch in the courtyard of the school before escorting guests to view their handiwork.

An anti-drug poster contest was sponsored by Bay High's Students Against Drunk Driving, and Hancock Bank first place winners' posters were displayed by the bank, and a savings bond was donated for presentation to the overall winner.

First place winners were Samantha Wasson, kindergarten, Britni Haynes, Kate Moran and Rachel Young, first grade; Nat Fairconnetue, Eric Gray and Damien Hughes, second grade; Devin Busha, Daniel Dougherty, Lacy Green and Michael Mayo, third grade.

Other winners included Cherie Jeffords and Alicia Williams, kindergarten; Ashley Escue, Nickole Jeffords, Ashley Ready, Josh Tillman and Aimee Wells, first grade;

Devon Breland, Randy Brunelle, Joshua Dear, Jermaine Galloway, Crystal Humphres, and Yen Tran, second grade;

Joshua Bennet, Courtney Crawford, Raymond Estapa, Tristan Haynes, Ashley Nelson, Steven Ortiz, Nicole Rygiel, and Erroll Vontoure, third grade.

Adults were invited to attend an informative presentation by guest speaker, Leslie Shelton, of Sand Hill Hospital, who discussed children and teen drug use. She revealed data on the most widely used drugs within the different age brackets, commenting that inhalants were most prevalent among younger children. A lively discussion between Ms. Shelton and the audience included a variety of suggestions for helping children cope with pressures resulting in drug use.

Gloria Dean, Bay High counselor, expressed enthusiasm for the programs that have been made available through the Drug Free Schools and Communities grant received this school year.

"Missy Johnson works with the nine public and private schools in our district," she said, "and has initiated a number of programs including peer counseling and tutors, drug awareness fairs and community-sponsored drug programs."

North Bay principal, Kim

Stasny was excited about the turnout and community support of this project.

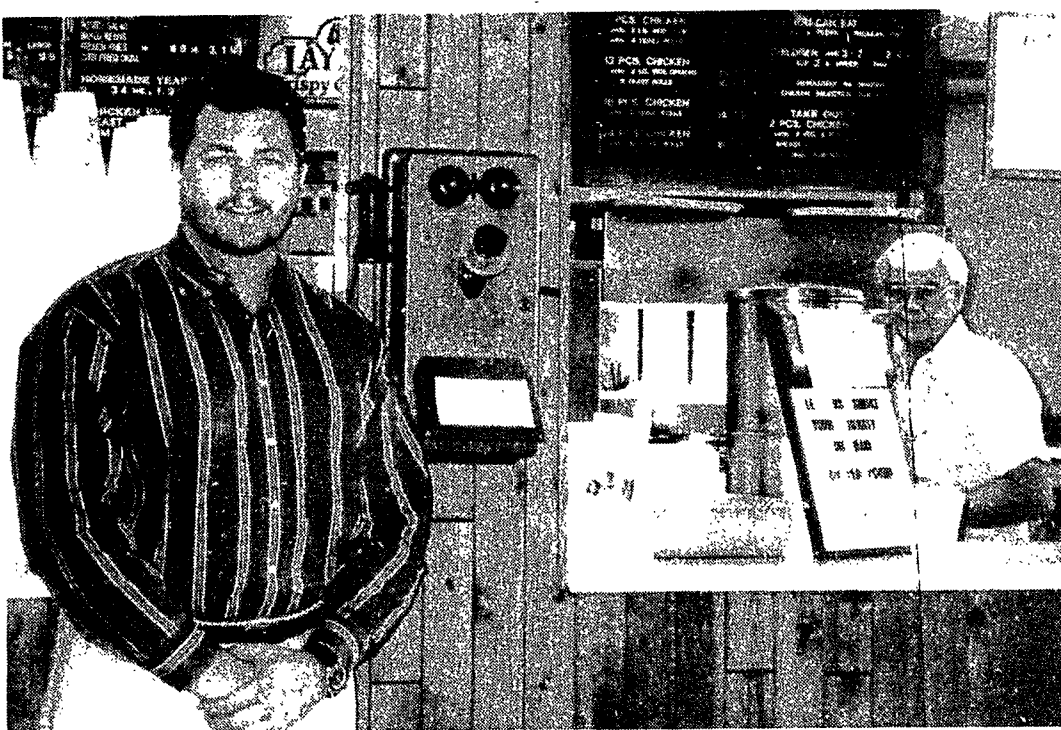

"It is encouraging to see the community and schools working hand in hand," Stasny said. "When students recognize that the community cares, the schools can accomplish so much more."

Coast Chamber sponsors Sunrisers meeting Apr. 29

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with Gulf Coast Business Services, will hold the quarterly Sunrisers breakfast meeting at the Mississippi Coast Convention Center on April 29 at 7:30 a.m.

New Goodwill center opens in Long Beach

Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi Inc. will opening its newest Attended Donation Center in Long Beach today. The grand opening/ribbon cutting ceremony is set for 10 a.m. at the center in the K&B parking lot, Jeff Davis and Hwy. 90. Long Beach Mayor Glen Rishel, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce president Frank Olavar, and Goodwill executives will cut the ribbon. There will be free balloons and Pepsi, and 25-cent hot dogs.

Royal Walker, executive director of the Mississippi Gaming Commission, will address the members regarding developments and direction of the commission. The Gaming Commission is the state agency responsible for investigating and licensing applicants for casino operation. After licensing, they then monitor compliance of regulations. In addition, Chamber president Andy Carpenter, The Peoples Bank, will update the members on current events and programs pertaining to the Chamber. Coffee, juice and danish will be provided compliments of Gulf Coast Business Services.

Sunrisers is open to all Chamber members and their guests at no charge. For more information or reservations, call 863-2933.
